

Pensacola's Very Own Al Stubblefield Receives American Hospital Association Award of Honor

Former Senator Bob Dole (left) and Bill Petasnick, chairman, American Hospital Association, (right) congratulate Al Stubblefield in receiving the Award of Honor.

Al Stubblefield was chosen for the Award of Honor for his outstanding contributions to improving the health status of our region and his service that has impacted our nation.

This prestigious award recognizes Al's exemplary contributions to the health and well-being of people through his leadership on major health policies and social initiatives.

The AHA is a not-for-profit association of health care provider organizations and individuals that are committed to the health improvement of their communities. The AHA's membership includes 5,000 hospitals, health care systems, networks and other providers of care and 37,000 individual members.

Alfred G. Stubblefield, president and CEO, Baptist Health Care, received the American Hospital Association's 2008 Award of Honor on April 7, 2008, in Washington, D.C.

Al and family loading trucks with supplies for relief of fellow healthcare workers after hurricane Katrina.

"Al's achievements in quality of care and his willingness to share that knowledge have bettered health care nationwide"

– Rich Umbdenstock,
AHA president and CEO

(850) 434-4080
www.eBaptistHealthCare.org